God's Fellow Workers

activities, both of work and pleasure.

1Cor.3:9 God's fellow-workers.

Intro. God is ceaselessly at work trying to get certain things done.

Some things God cant do alone- he needs helpers, co-workers with him.

I. What is is that God is trying to get done that demands of us that we help him? We ought to know just what God's purpose and plans are, so far aas we are concerned.

1. God is trying to make things beautiful.
All nature is the handiwark of God and all nature is crammed full of beauty.
Human beings created beautiful, also.

2. God is trying to make his children, the people of this world happy.

3. God is working hard to make things good. This his hardest job and includes the other two.
A dictionary study of the word, "good", a profitable one for anyone.

II. How does God work at His job?

1. Silently, ceaselessly, intensely, by His Holy Spirit with infinite energy and power

2. God makes things in the rough, unfinished state, expecting us to complete, polish and use them.
Earth stored with minerals and oild and covered with vegetable and animal growth.
Ocean full of living th ngs and streams stored with power.
Air full of electrical and radio energy.
People full of latent powers- mental and spiritual.
The character possibilities of our personalities is hardly known as yet.

III. How can we become fellow-workers with God?

1. By taking hold of God's plans and work for us.
God has a plan for each one of us. He wants each one of us to be beutiful, happy and good. God wants us to possess Gospel goodness, which we get by applying the teaching of Christ to all our activities, both of work and pleasure.

2. Secondly, by persuading and influencing others likewise to become co-workers with God.

3. Thirdly, by not letting anything interfere with our work tht or spoil what goodness we have developed.

"Slightly soiled- greatly reduced in price"

We witness some vulgar show, or listen to some smutty story, or entertain some unclean thot or unworthy d lotive desire, and lo, when our characters are appraise it is discovered that we have lost our personal charm, our strength is gone, and we are classified w ith the general shop-worn stock.

The Gospel of Christ can not onlys solve all our problems, but when lived and obeyed enables us to help God carry out His plans for us and gives to us the beauty, happiness and goodness which every normal child of God should possess.
